

Master Class
Children of the Diaspora +
Spirituality pt. 2: Practices

Questions to Evaluate and Decolonize a Tradition or School of Thought.

As we already discussed, this is a path and a practice. So these questions may take time and require generosity.

What is the origin of the tradition/school of thought? i.e: its land, its people its history.

What is the structure? i.e: hierarchical, patriarchal, authoritarian, community based, egalitarian, etc..

How accessible was is it?

How does its core beliefs align (or not) with your's?

Does it have any relationship with your ancestry? How?

In what ways has it been colonized? Has it been a tool for colonization? if so, how and why?

Does it support agency and transparency?

Who are the main representations today? why?

What are your commitments in relationship to holding this justly?

Are there reparations to be made? how will you be part of the restoration?

What does right relationship look like to you as you walk your path?

With abundant love,
La Comadre
Priestess of Liberation
Midwifing Multidimensional Liberation through Transformational Practices